Labor-Progressive Meeting Held Saturday

A.A. MacLeod of Toronto, former member of the Ontario legislature, and Ben Swankey, Labor-Progressive candidate for Pincher Creek - Crows Nest addressed a public meeting in Coleman on Saturday night, June 11th.

Mr. Swankey asserted that the coal miner was the forgotten man in Alberta today because Premier Manning "is too busy giving away our oil and natural gas to U.S. oil corporations to bother about a few thousand coal miners" and also because "the Liberal government at Ottawa puts the profits of U.S. oil trusts ahead of the interests of Canadian miners."

Mr. Swankey proposed a three point coal policy:

1. Canadian coal for the Canadian market. Keep out U.S. coal as long as Canadian mines are idle.

2. The establishment of industries in the Crows Nest Pass to process coal for its many valuable by-products.

3. A steel industry for the Crows Nest Pass which would provide new jobs and a stable market for coal.

Coleman Council Approves Erection Of Signs

The regular meeting of Coleman council was held in the council chambers on Tuesday, June 7 with Mayor Abousaffy and all the members present.

William Holyk appeared before the council to make two requests on behalf of the Board of Trade. One was for material for the picnic shelter being erected in the park and for someone from the works department to supervise the school children who were going to clean up the park area on Friday.

The above request was granted by the council.

On the other request for council to consider the erection of signs in certain areas, Mr. Holyk was assured that the council would give this matter serious attention.

The police report was read and accepted, it showed 6 cases in May being cleaned up. These cases covered over a year of intense investigation on the part of Chief Coson. Financial report was read and accounts passed for payment. The Ladies Auxiliary to the C.N.P. Hospital requested permission to hold a tag day or June 30th, this request was granted. The question of financial assistance to the Fire Department in regards to the Hose laying competition being held on July 1st here in Coleman arose and council decided to grant $100.00 towards this event. On the Greyhound Bus Depot not being situated in downtown area, council instructed the town secretary to write the Greyhound management and request a representative to come to Coleman to discuss the matter with the council. Information was requested on the terms and building code with regards to the erection of a Greek-Orthodox Church on the corner opposite the Union hall. The representative was requested to call at the town office and he would be given all the details.

The request of the Calgary Brewing Co. to be given permission to erect two signs on the outskirts of town, on 4th st. advertising the Grand Union hotel came up for discussion. Council was shown a miniature replica of the proposed signs, both signs costing over $400.00 a piece. There was considerable discussion on this matter and as the council felt that more signs were required to inform travellers through the town of the services that Coleman had to offer and with the possibility that it would bring more business into town permission was granted. Although permission was granted to the erection of signs in restricted areas, council was not going to let this matter run wild, anyone requesting permission would have to provide council with detailed plans and costs of the intended signs before permission would be granted. The by-law covering signs and the section in regards to the above mentioned are as follows. No signs may be erected except in these areas as laid out by council on the east from Little Chief Service to town limits and on the west from the road leading to the Ball park west to the blinker light. With regards to the distance from the road allowing the minimum distance will be 20 feet. In regards to directional signs council decided to have signs erected showing the approach to the Kananaskis Highway, and to the downtown area.

Town planning a necessity not a luxury says expert

(By C. E. JOSLYN, member of the National Council of the Community Planning Association of Canada)

The idea is widely held that town planning is a costly luxury—that it leads to the spending of large sums of money for beautification and for ornate public buildings. This idea is false.

The aim of town planning is to ensure that the taxpayer gets the best of value for his tax dollar. In good times and bad, large sums of money will be spent each year in any town or city on local improvements, schools, parks and public buildings. Town Planning points the way to locating these services, buildings and facilities so that they are adequate and in all ways best suited for the purpose.

Grid pattern costly

Most of our urban communities are subdivided on the grid or right-angle pattern, generally with all the streets the same width. This is a costly type of subdivision. The streets on the boundaries of residential areas should be established as thoroughfares to carry heavy traffic—those through residential areas should be narrower and designed to carry lighter and slower traffic. Town planning provides for location and classification of streets for various purposes. When the current program for street improvements is related to the overall plan, mistakes will be avoided in over-designing or under-designing for both amount and weight of traffic.

In the location of schools, town planning can save tax dollars. Planners are trained to investigate prospective as well as existing development. Hence a new school location will provide for future needs, both as to size of site and future residential growth in the vicinity.

These and other development matters indicate the value of the overall or comprehensive nature of planning. Each project referred to the Town Planning Committee is studied in relation to the whole community. If a project does not fit into the comprehensive plan of the community it may have to be replaced later by a proper development. This means heavy cost that should not have been incurred. If the project is not so bad that it must be replaced later, it may still be so convenient or inexpensive that it is in the long run of continuous expense to the people who use it.

A simple definition of town planning might be: "The development and regulation of use of the physical forms of the community to provide for the people the maximum in convenience, safety and beauty."

The good of the people is the objective of town planning. The emphasis is on the amenities of living conditions and protection of property values, rather than on restriction. There will necessarily be restriction but it will be restriction of the few for the benefit of the many.

Town planning should not be imposed on the community by experts. It should work up from the grass roots. People should get acquainted with the basic town planning problems affecting the whole community and their own neighborhood. Through their councillors and organizations, such as Chambers of Commerce, Parent-Teacher Associations, Service Clubs, Women's Institutes, etc., they should present their views on these matters. Town planning experts can then use their techniques to plan developments to meet the desires of the people.

No community can afford to carry out an ill-considered project. No community can afford to carry out a good project ahead of its time. It is only through the help of "planning" that a community can be reasonably assured of proceeding with well conceived projects at the right time and thus getting the best value for the tax dollar.

Helpful Hints

Old lipstick containers are good for carrying bobby pins, safety pins, and threaded needles in a woman's purse for easy finding.

Once a week pour a solution into the sink made of cooking soda and a little chloride of lime dissolved in hot water. This removes all stains.

Soap helps sticky drawers, but did you know that plain "lead" pencil, which is graphite, is good first aid for the draw curtain track?

To prevent piano keys from turning yellow, wash them with alcohol and then polish with a clean soft cloth.

The gremlins of milk cans are many

In this land of milk and money the housewife takes a practical view of quality buying. Modern food containers have had to keep up with this realistic attitude of the consumer, and thus, have reached a new high in perfection.

Milk and cream cans are the containers on which the dairyman has to depend. Anything which destroys the fine flavor of the milk or cream is a menace to the dairyman's profits; the milk can may be one of the greatest of these menaces. If the can is not perfect the taste of the sweet fresh milk is spoiled and the price lowered.

The gremlins of the milk can are many. The smallest bit of rust will taint a whole can of milk. One split seam will quickly fill with accumulated rust; it is impossible to clean a split seam. A few particles of dirt or rust can slice dollars and cents from the returns. The cans should never be used before being checked for general cleanliness.

Seamless shipping cans of non-rusting materials are one protecting the dairyman has. The only other protection against the expensive gremlins of the milk can is the closest possible routine inspection.

The dairyman, in keeping up with other food producers, has to provide modern, clean and sanitary containers for milk and cream.

Trees available for school grounds

REGINA.—The Forest Nursery Station at Indian Head is again co-operating with the department of Education for the free distribution of trees for planting on school grounds according to Education minister W. S. Lloyd.

Mr. Lloyd commented that an excellent way for a school district to commemorate the province's Jubilee Year would be by starting a program of beautifying the school property.

Mr. Lloyd added that the school boards must comply with the conditions in order to obtain the trees. The soil must be properly prepared on a three year program. The first year the ground is broken; the second, the soil is summer-fallowed; the third, the young trees may be planted. As well, the school board must accept responsibility for the payment of shipping charges.

When the soil has been prepared the school board can write to the department of Education for application forms. Mr. Lloyd stressed that these completed forms must be returned to the department not later than August 15 of the year preceding the planting.

The types of trees available are Acute leaf willow, ash, caragana, cottonwood, elm, laurel, willow, maple, North West poplar, and Russian poplar. There is a small charge for evergreens.

The steel rotor on a modern self-propelled snow plow breaks up packed snow so that it can be removed at the rate of up to 1,200 pounds per minute.

Funny and Otherwise

An office boy told the boss he would like the afternoon off to attend his grandmother's funeral. To the chief his case, he added, "I'll hustle right back to the office as soon as it's over."

"Okay," agreed the boss, "and I'll leave the key with the janitor, just in case your grandmother's funeral runs into extra innings."

Two brothers, arguing over the division of a farm bequeathed them by their father, decided to take the matter to their wise old uncle.

He asked if they would abide by his decision, and they agreed.

"All right," he said. "Let one of you brothers divide the land and the other gets first choice."

A printer of a small-town paper found that some joker had stolen all the letter 's' from his type cabinet. In the next issue of the paper he explained his predicament as follows:

"Thome louthy theaneking unfcomfreteth nat intoon into our comfoting room and theked did with all our etheth. We muth therefore apolothpe to our readeth for the intipid appearance of thith week'th paper."

We would also like to thate that if at any time is the yearth to come, we thes thith dirty thanke in the grabath about the premitheth, we will thoot him the full of hoitheth he will remethemle a thitheth cheeth."

Jim was driving along a healthy-looking highway when he came across a big, home-made sign reading, "Detour."

"Phooey," grunted Jim, looking at the nice clear roadway ahead. "Some farmer wants me to turn off the main road so he can sell me something." So . . .

Forward forged Jim for half a mile. Then, the road curved and around the curve, Jim found himself confronted by a river. And the bridge washed out.

Jim turned around and drove sulphuriously back. Thus, he approached that "Detour" sign from the other side. On that side Jim read: "Told you so!"

"I'm terribly worried," said a girl to her friend. "I told Bill in my last letter to forget that I had told him I didn't mean to reconsider my decision not to change my mind, and he seems to have misunderstood me."

Mountain Guide—"Be careful not to fall here. It's dangerous. But, if you do fall, remember to look to the left. You get a wonderful view."

Will: "True, but I'd rather play with a poor loser than any kind of winner."

How to hit the "speedball"

Teen age ball players find it extremely difficult to hit a "speedball" pitch. Here's why: (1) They use the same type of hitting stance, swing and footwork that they use against ordinary pitching. (2) They are afraid of a "speedball" and worry about getting hit. (3) They swing too late because the co-ordination of eye and muscle is not fast enough. Finally, they can't hit "speedball" pitching because they don't practice hitting against this type of pitching enough.

To avoid these mistakes—stand well back in the batter's box—as close to the catcher as possible. Don't hold the bat behind you in the ready-to-hit position as far back as you do when facing ordinary pitching. Use a "choke" grip on the bat. Use a short, brisk swing. Finally, cut down on your stride into the ball. If you stand up at the plate and think only of watching the ball, you aren't likely to get hit—so don't worry about it.

To get used to "speedball" pitching have your team pitcher or a pal to pitch as fast as he can at you every day for 10 or 15 minutes. Make him pitch to you from closer than the official box. Then as you get used to this have him move closer until he is pitching from half the regular distance. When you can hit him consistently from this distance you are ready to hit "speedball" pitching from the regular distance. This can do wonders for your hitting.

Get that wobble out of your sprinting

If, after you have had a day or your coach check on this and find that you do have a wobble—here's what to do: First, make sure you are bringing your knees up straight in front of you. If they come up, out to the side they create a bad wobble. Make sure your hands are not coming more than half way across your chest as you pump them up and down in rhythm with your legs. If your arm action is too much across your chest you can correct it by concentrating on keeping your elbows close to your sides as you run. Wobbling is one of the worst faults a sprinter can have.

Even your blood pressure can't drop without buzzing

A device which will summon a nurse when a patient's blood pressure reaches a critical level has been put into production in Elyria, Ohio.

A blood pressure cuff is wrapped around the patient's arm and inflated. A microphone is strapped over the arm at that point where a physician usually places his stethoscope in a blood pressure reading.

Impulses from the microphone are amplified and an electrical circuit sets in motion a printing device that records the blood pressure.

All Saskatchewan livestock producers are invited to attend the 42nd annual convention of the Saskatchewan Stock Growers' Association, to be held at Regina, June 2 and 3. It will be the most important convention in S.G.A. history, according to James H. Mitchell of Battle Creek, president.

The Stock Growers led the opposition to compulsory livestock marketing during the recent hearings of the Saskatchewan Marketing Board. They retained legal and economic counsel to attend every hearing, and presented a carefully prepared brief which not only set out the objections of producers to a compulsory livestock marketing scheme but also challenged the Saskatchewan Farmers Union and its provisional livestock marketing committee to show how a marketing scheme could assist the industry.

Convention issue

Although the Saskatchewan Marketing Board has not yet come to a decision respecting a plebiscite among producers, the issue will be one of the main pieces of business at the convention. President Mitchell and others on the executive will give a complete report of their actions at the hearings, and make recommendations for further action in the event a plebiscite is called.

Since February, membership in the Saskatchewan Stock Growers' Association jumped from 600 to 1,600 as mixed farmers and stockmen opposed to the marketing board rallied to support the association's stand. The membership includes producers of all types of livestock and is still growing.

Two major speeches on compulsory marketing will be heard. Dr. Gordon L. Burton of Clonville, Alta., a qualified economist and rancher who attended all S.M.B. hearings, will present the producers' views and Miss Isabel Atkinson of Saskatoon, president of the Saskatchewan Branch, Canadian Association of Consumers, will state the opinion of her organization.

A special program for the ladies has been arranged.

Barbecue supper

On Friday evening, June 3, a barbecue supper will be held on the Regina Exhibition grounds. Five hundred pounds of choice beef will be cooked in a barbecue pit and served, along with all the trimmings, to those attending.

Hotel, motel and private room accommodation can be obtained by writing G. S. Hawkins of the Cecil Hotel, Moose Jaw, who is in charge of these arrangements.

Among the special speakers at the convention will be Dr. Kenneth F. Wells of Ottawa, veterinary director-general of Canada; Ralph Miracle, secretary of the Montana Stock Growers' Association; Helena Farrington R. Carpenter of Hayden, Colo.; Grant MacEwan of Calgary, manager of the Canadian Council of Beef Producers; R. H. Painter of the Livestock Insect Laboratory, Lethbridge, Alta.; W. G. McGowan of Weiler and Williams Commission Firm, Winnipeg; and Basil Campbell of the Swift Current Experimental Station. Dr. George Rankin of Regina will show slides on the killing of buffalo and reindeer in the North West Territories.

The Stock Growers Association was organized in 1912 and held its first convention at Moose Jaw in 1913. It has three major objectives:

- (1) To watch legislative relating to stock growers' interests.
- (2) To forward the interests of the stock growers in every honorable and legitimate way.
- (3) To suggest to parliament from time to time, as is found necessary, through duly appointed delegates, the passing of any new legislation to meet changing conditions and requirements.

Convention programs may be obtained from Joe Newton, secretary, care of the Co-operative Stockyards, Moose Jaw.

Early canning young rhubarb recommended

The young colorful stalks of rhubarb are apt to be more tender and juicy and have a better flavor than the late ones. And as the rhubarb season is quite short, two months at the most, the home economists suggest you freeze or can it early in the season.

Rhubarb is just about the simplest fruit or vegetable to freeze. All that is required is to remove the leaves and root ends, wash and drain the stalks, cut them up and freeze them in moisture-vapor-proof wrapping or containers. Some people prefer to freeze the stalks just cut in two or three pieces but if you cut them in 1-inch slices they will be all ready to use for stewing or in pies and puddings.

If you wish to sweeten the rhubarb at freezing time you may pack the 1-inch pieces in dry sugar using five pounds of prepared fruit (about 16 cups) to one pound of sugar (two cups). The sugar is sprinkled over the rhubarb and stirred lightly to coat the pieces before packing into freezer containers and covered with a cold medium syrup.

The syrup is made by adding one cup of water then stirring to dissolve the sugar. This makes about 1½ cups of syrup and it requires two-thirds to one cup syrup for pint containers and one to one-and-one-half cups for quart containers.

Stewed rhubarb or rhubarb sauce which is stewed rhubarb with the pieces broken up, may be frozen also. Use the same proportions of sugar as given above for dry pack frozen rhubarb, and cook the rhubarb slowly until tender in the top of a double boiler or in a covered casserole in 47 cent. Cool, pack in freezer containers leaving a one-half-inch head-space for expansion, and freeze.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

EVANGELISM NEEDS PERSONAL TOUCH FOR HARVEST

Jesus said that the test of discipleship, and the glorifying of God, was in bearing much fruit. "Herein is My Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be My disciples."

What does it mean to bear the fruit that glorifies God? Perhaps the greatest form of fruit-bearing is that in which the original disciples were engaged; that of bringing others to Jesus.

That is something in which every Christian should be engaged, and no movements of mass evangelism can be permanently effective unless the spirit and activity of personal evangelism be present and enduring.

From the throngs that attend evangelistic meetings, one may anticipate a number of changed lives. Many changes may not be permanent, but despite the relapses, many transformations to newness of life will be lifelong and strong.

But the ultimate success of all such mass evangelism is in its effect upon the churches and the normal Christian life.

The ultimate power of winning souls for Christ rests with them. Theirs is the task of teaching and guiding the young so that they never go astray or need rescuing. This is a basic form of evangelism.

But with that is the work of creating an evangelistic atmosphere and environment, a constant invitation to all to accept the message of Christ's Gospel, and find the new life in Him. This is one great way of bearing fruit to the glory of God.

Early summerfallowing strongly recommended to kill the weeds

By Allan Rugz
Wilkie Area Ag. Rep.

Early summerfallowing is still strongly recommended. This operation is so important in Saskatchewan that it can bear repeating. Why do we summerfallow? To kill weeds, thus conserving moisture to produce more bushels. Incidentally, nitrogen is also taken from the air and stored in the soil during this period. Why early? Because weeds start early and in most years we must save all moisture possible, therefore the first operation should be done as early as possible.

Long range tests at the Swift Current experimental station disclose that where all weed growth is prevented, an average of 5.1 inches of water is stored in the soil. First cultivation at later dates progressively lowers moisture storage and yields.

For instance, where the first cultivation took place on July 15, only 1.9 inches of water was retained, cutting the yield down to 47 percent in comparison to early cultivation and prevention of all weed growth.

Summerfallowing sandy land is questionable as only a limited amount of moisture can be saved in any case.

Water must enter the soil before it can be saved. Keeping furrows in the surface layer will help the paper mills do not use as much

All the paper mills of the world, however, consume only five percent of the timber supplies. RCMP ride sky 'horses' in keeping with modern need

OTTAWA.—The Royal Canadian Mounted Police, which once policed a huge area mostly on horseback, now operates from the air as well as by land and sea, relates a Canadian Press story.

A whitewashed hangar at the RCMP barracks in Ottawa's suburban Rockcliffe houses headquarters of the force's youngest patrol—the air division.

From there and nine other points across Canada 11 planes of the division transport men—and sometimes trail dogs—on urgent missions in search of missing persons, to discourage game law violators or help in manhunts.

Errands of mercy

The division's main work is in the sparsely-populated north where its planes frequently make mercy flights to bring in emergency provisions or to fly sick persons to hospital. Along the Canada-United States border the appearance of the blue-and-gold aircraft of the mounties spells trouble for the smuggler.

The air division originally was formed in 1937 to augment the RCMP's criminal investigation and marine divisions. It had four planes in those days at the outbreak of the Second World War its personnel were turned over to the RCAF and most served throughout the war, two being killed on ferry command duties. In 1946 the division was reorganized.

It now has 11 planes operating out of Patricia Bay, B.C., Vancouver, Edmonton, Fort Smith, N.W.T., Prince Albert, Sask., Regina, Winnipeg, Churchill, Man., and St. John's, Nfld., as well as Rockcliffe headquarters.

Fine record

The RCMP air division is proud of its fatality-free record and strives to keep it that way.

Rockcliffe headquarters is a self-contained establishment where to three miles an hour.

Coleman Pupils Reply To Ontario Message

The grade 4 pupils of Cameron school at Coleman have replied to the letter of congratulation sent the school children of Alberta on the occasion of Alberta's Golden Jubilee by the children of Richvale school at Richvale, Ont.

The Coleman children, after reading the letter from Richvale in the March 15 issue of Within Our Borders, wrote a letter to the Richvale school expressing their thanks to Ontario children for their congratulations.

In their letter they mentioned the mineral wealth of Alberta and the contribution pioneers from eastern Canada had made in the development of the west. So far as it is known, the Coleman letter is the only reply the Ontario school-children have received to their message of congratulations.

9th Technical Rgmt. RCME Band Gives Concert in Coleman

The 9th Technical Regiment Band from Blairmore treated the citizens of Coleman to an excellent concert by the Canadian Legion on Saturday evening. Forming up at the Legion corner they proceeded to march and play down the street to the New Elks hall and back again to the starting point. This band is under the direction of Bandmaster Fred Beddington of Coleman and is comprised of bandmen from all of the Pass towns. It was inaugurated only a few months ago with the few members that were available at that time. Since then it has grown to be one of the outstanding bands in Southern Alberta. They have played for the Commanding Officer of the 22nd, Militia Group of the Southern District. At the Band Festival held in Lethbridge recently they were adjudged as one of the best bands to ever attend a festival of this nature. They will be playing in Michel, B.C. on July 1st and again for the parade held here on July 9 to open the Coleman Rodeo. Bandmaster Beddington has expressed his sincere appreciation for the wonderful reception that has been extended this band. He stated further that it is the Bands intention to give concerts in the other Pass towns. With a little more training this band should be one of the very best bands to be found in Alberta. It certainly will be a definite asset to all of the Pass towns, and something we should all be sincerely proud of. Fred Beddington along with the members of this Band are to be congratulated for the wonderful job they are doing. Capt. E. A. Fontana, Commanding Officer of the local detachment of the R.C.M.E.'s is another one who the people of the Pass have to thank for his efforts on behalf of the formation of this band, for his efforts have been unlimited. Keep up the good work fellows, we sure appreciate your efforts.

Coleman Youths Given Further Fines And Remands

Appearing before Magistrate F. S. Radford in police court last week were five Coleman youths, charged with theft of car hub caps from the car of Mr. C. McIntyre, valued at $40, on the early morning of October 25, 1954.

For this offence all were fined $25 or 30 days in Lethbridge jail. Two of these youths had appeared the week previous and were fined $50 for the theft of a battery. Two more of these youths were remanded to Monday, June 13th, for sentence on charges of tire and wheel thefts from Coleman Collieries, Mr. J. Hanrahan and Mr. R. Rojek, all of Coleman.

Magistrate Radford gave these youths a very serious lecture and stated that someone must teach them a lesson, that he did not like to see these young men up in court as they were only starting out in life and that their criminal record would follow them all their life, and that he hoped never to see them in court again.

Other persons appearing before Magistrate Radford here during the last week were two men charged with operating a car without "due care and attention." One man was fined $20 and costs or 30 days, with his driving licence suspended for 60 days, while the other man was fined $20 and costs or 30 days. A Willow Drive resident was fined $25 and costs or 30 days on the charge of operating a motor vehicle while his drivers licence was suspended.

Two Bellevue youths were fined $50 and costs on the charge of assaulting and bodily harm to a Blairmore youth while attending a dance in Coleman.

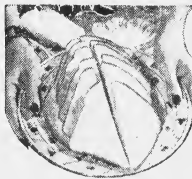

A well known woman resident of Coleman was given a stiff fine of $150.00 and costs or three months in jail for being intoxicated creating a public disturbance while being on the interdiction list.

All charges were preferred by Chief of Police Corson of Coleman.

Continue Search Of Creek For Missing Child

CROW'S NEST — Natal RCMP detachment is continuing the search for little Terry Palmer, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Benny Palmer of Knights Lumber Company at Crow's Nest, B.C., where it is believed, fell into Alexander Creek Saturday morning, June 4. Another son of the Palmer family, Benny, three years old, drowned and the body was recovered.

Dragnets have been employed in the extensive search of the river area and hundreds of persons from nearby Michel and Natal with constables of the R.C.M.P. from both Natal and Fernie detachments have been searching along the river banks in hopes of recovering Terry's body.

The creek which passes through the lumber company property is swollen to its peak height at this time of the year due to the spring runoff and chances of finding the child's body are lessening. Hindering the search is also the heavy growth of brush along the creek bed.

The two children were missed shortly after 10 a.m. Saturday and after a brief search by some of the mill workers, an extensive search party was formed, comprising millworkers and their families along with R.C.M.P. constables and many volunteers from the Michel-Natal area. A younger child survives, together with both the parents. Funeral services were conducted at McBain's Lake for the one son this week. Coroner Larry Cheston of Natal, stated no inquest would be held.

Lethbridge Man Dies When Car Fails To Make Turn

(Courtesy Lethbridge Herald) Six persons were injured, one fatally, in three traffic accidents over the week-end.

Leslie McCrae, age 22, of 1019, 11th St. S., Lethbridge, was fatally injured Sunday night when the car in which he was riding failed to make a turn on the Red Rock Canyon highway in Waterton National Park, and plunged down a 90-foot cliff.

Also injured in the mishap were two Lethbridge people, Marjlene Archibald, concussion and back injuries; Roberta Bell, broken leg, and Arlene Michelson of Stirling, minor injuries. Clifford Firth of the city escaped uninjured. Ambulance Called

The car, a 1950 beige Meteor, left the road at Copper Mine Creek, a point five miles from the junction of the main Waterton and Red Rock highways, and rolled down the 90 to 100 foot embankment.

An ambulance from Pincher Creek was called to the scene and the injured were carried up the steep slope to the ambulance. The injured were rushed to Pincher Creek hospital. Coroner W. A. MacLeod, of Pincher Creek, has ordered an inquest to be held.

The driver of the car has not been identified but it is believed that one of the girls was at the wheel at the time of the accident.

(Miss Roberta Bell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Brick) Bell of Lethbridge, formerly of Coleman).

DID YOU EVER SEE A JACK-IN-POCKET?

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

EASY MONEY

—By VALERIE CULLEN—

VERY quietly he opened the back door of the hardware store, inch by inch, and picked his way over loose boxes and boards that littered the walk to the alley.

It was over now and he was five hundred dollars richer. He could just picture the face of Janie, the pretty clerk with whom he worked, if she saw him now.

"Jack Haincock, burglary is a fool's game. You'll get caught in the end. And how could you rob the store of the man for whom you work? How could you rob hard-working people?"

But she was wrong because he wouldn't be caught. Not ambitious Jack. He had planned and waited for this moment, waited until he knew the elderly watchman of the small town was having his usual coffee at one in the small all-night restaurant two blocks away. Posing uncertainly for the moment, he scanned the alley now clearly illuminated by moonlight. Forcing the lock off the door and battering the store safe had taken more time than he had anticipated.

His nerves had been unstrung by the eerie silence of the store, and each blow he struck the safe seemed to have been magnified a thousand times to his own ears, echoing and resounding in the murky darkness.

Once when a passing car broke the outside stillness, he had almost quit and fled. He steered himself to continue until the job was completed.

He would work for several more months at the store until suspicion had abated and then leave for a larger city. That five hundred dollars would go far in providing him with entertainment in night clubs and race tracks he had always dreamed of. And when that money ran out, there would be other stores.

No more of this small dead town for him. Other people might alive for their everyday bread but not him. In his mind people were divided into two classes—those who worked and those who were smart enough not to have to work. He had been kicked around enough, he told himself, as a member of a large, poor family. He had never been given new clothes or hooks or spending money. Janie, he told himself, had never known humiliation and want. Well, let her live the hard way; he'd take the easy money.

Moving cautiously out into the moonlight, he glanced at the thick rosemary hedge which enclosed the yard of the large home next to the hardware store. It was an old stately home which had been built at the centre of the town when the town was young 80 years ago. The rest of the block had gradually been built into stores, but the fragrant, beautiful hedge still maintained the home's privacy and dignity, hiding it from the invaders. The sweet fragrance filled the air.

Janie, he remembered, lived there, and suddenly he hated the lovely scent, the dignified home, as symbols of something he had never had.

He jumped. Someone was coming from the far end of the alley. He had been right when he thought he was taking too long in breaking open the safe. The night watchman had finished his coffee and was coming his way.

For a split second he hesitated. He was still unseen in the shadows. If he ran out into the alley under the light, he would be seen by the watchman. Even if he did succeed in outrunning the old man, some car might be passing.

Turning, he ran swiftly toward the hedge, crashing through and ignoring the sting of scratches. Ruthlessly he forced through the second hedge, trying to shut out the foolish old man's voice. "Stop! What's going on here?"

Swift pursuing steps came closer as Jack struggled to free himself of the hedge.

Then he was free. He ran swiftly down the block and then another. Behind him he heard shouts, then a pursuing car. In another moment when the glare of the headlights had pinned him in an unescapable area of light, Jack was sauntering casually, smoking a cigarette.

Brakes screamed and the watchman jumped onto the sidewalk. "Have you seen a man running this way?"

Feigning surprise and interest, Jack replied, "Sorry, but I haven't. What's up?"

"Don't know yet but something is wrong." The watchman came closer, looked hard at Jack. "Been running?" he asked. "You're breathing hard."

Jack tried to laugh nonchalantly. "I'm just as excited as you are, pop. That's all. But I'm not your man." He took a long pull on his cigarette.

The watchman waved the smoke away in irritation, sniffed, and then grabbed Jack's arm. Startled, Jack tried to pull away, and as he did so, the driver of the car, sensing trouble, jumped out and rushed over.

The watchman turned to the driver. "Help me hold this man for the police. I've a good idea he just broke into the hardware store."

"You're crazy, pop," Jack protested. "You haven't got a thing on me." "No!" the watchman demanded. "But you smell pretty strongly of rosemary. Even got a couple of twigs on your coat. There's plenty of rosemary by the store. You must have been scared to run right through that, and I've a hunch you broke into the hardware store. Better come along quietly now."

LOVE AND MARRIAGE

Love should be stronger than pride, broader than self-love, and deeper than sentimentality, or emotion—Mary Kimball Morgan. Pure humanity, friendship, home, the interchange of love, bring to earth a forest of heaven. Mary Baker Eddy. Whether thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God.

The desire to be beloved is ever restless and unsatisfied; but the love that flows out upon others is a perpetual wellspring from on high—Mrs. Lydia M. Child. I chose my wife as she did her wedding gown, for qualities that would wear well—Oliver Goldsmith.

The happiness of married life depends upon making small sacrifices with readiness and cheerfulness—John Selden.

THE BELLS OF ST. JOSEPH'S. This crowd at St. Joseph's Oratory listens as the new 53-bell carillon peals forth for the first time. The concert was given by raudonneur Emile H. Vendette, of Ottawa. The bells here are second only to Niagara and Peace Tower carillons.

On The Side — By — E. V. Durling

No doubt you have heard of dentists extracting their own teeth? Ever hear of a surgeon who operated on himself for appendicitis? Dr. Theodore Herr of Handorf, Germany, did it. With the use of novocaine, he took out his own appendix, an operation which took four and a half hours.

New name for an old job

In Sweden every effort is made to dignify domestic service and make it an attractive activity called "Home Assistants." Maids are unnamed. So when a maid works after 7 p.m., she is paid overtime. In addition to regular days off, the Swedish home assistant gets two weeks' vacation with pay. The housewife or home manager is expected to assume the same attitude toward a home assistant as her husband would to an assistant manager or private secretary at his office.

A well-worn word

"Darling" was once a term of endearment among married couples. Now it is just a routine salutation. It is also much used by wives as a preface to sarcasm, correction or criticism. Then the word is further abused by those dizzy dames who call everybody "Darling!"

Unfair to baldheaded men

When a woman makes use of false hair to improve her appearance it is referred to as a transformation, a change or some other fancy name. When a man does the same thing what he is wearing is always called a toupee or a wig. Both disreputable sounding names to a sensitive man. There's no justice in it.

APPETIZING RECIPES

Here's a quick supper snack to please your family. Slices of bread, topped with sauerkraut, are served hot and sizzling with weiners and tomatoes. Can't fruit is a good ending.

Greatest road building year in history for Canada 1955

OTTAWA—Canada is set to embark upon the greatest road building year in its history. The Canadian Good Roads Association, on the basis of a nation-wide survey, has announced that given favorable weather conditions, more than $600 million will be spent this year by road building agencies at three levels of government, an all-time high.

With men and machines poised for the mammoth operation, there are few clouds upon the horizon to worry the planners and contractors. Materials and equipment are in good supply. Manpower is no problem, except that skilled technicians, especially highway engineers, are at a premium.

But remembering last year the roadbuilders are keeping a keen eye on the weather "probs." Last year would have been a record-breaking year for highway construction in Canada, with some $500 million budgeted, but because of many weeks of rain in parts of the country work was curtailed and the actual expenditure fell far short.

The report, issued by C. W. Gilchrist, managing director of the Canadian Good Roads Association, shows that provincial budgets account for $425 million of this year's estimated expenditures. The larger municipalities, towns and cities will spend some $110 million on rural roads and urban streets. Federal government expenditures will amount to $27 million, mainly on the Trans-Canada Highway.

The Army expects to spend $5 million on the Northwest Highway system and it is estimated that some $2 million will be spent by mining companies and the forest industry on development roads. The federal grade crossing contribution may also be increased.

In addition, CGRA points out, there are the road and street expenditures of the smaller municipalities and centres of less than 4,000 population in Ontario and Quebec which are not covered by any official statistics. It is estimated that these expenditures will amount to between $40 and $50 million this year.

The 10 provincial governments have increased their road allocations by $85 million. Of this $47 million is accounted for by Ontario alone.

Canada's road program is second only to the United States among the nations of the world, from the standpoint of dollars spent and on a per capita basis.

Slightly tipsy soldier in Colorado Springs, Colo., went to sleep in the local hospital's maternity ward. Police team delivered him — to the jail. 3144

The Canadian Good Roads Association reported. Western Germany came third, Great Britain fourth and France fifth.

In common with most countries Canada is still coping with a backlog of highway needs created by the war when few new roads were built and existing roads were inadequately maintained. This year maintenance will account for more than one-third of the total road budget but a considerable percentage of this will be spent on winter maintenance. In this respect Canada is unique. Thousands of miles of Canada's half-million mile road system must be kept open in winter to serve private and commercial transportation demands.

UTILITY SHELF AND MATCHING STOOL

This telephone set was designed for the household with teenagers who like to chat with their friends without an audience. The shelf is less than a foot wide and the bench fits under it, just right for a coast or out-of-the-way nook. These pieces make excellent projects for manual training classes. While the set is simple to make, the use of a pattern assures correct proportions, saves time and material to more than cover the small cost of 35c for the pattern. Tracing diagrams and directions are on pattern 387. Other standard size patterns for wall shelves, baby crib, shoe-shine kit, modern lamps, and ten jig-saw pieces are all in the Small Household Furniture Packet which is $1.50 postpaid.
